

The project renovation and reconstruction of the stone house for Ivica Propadaol | 2016.

After the successful sale of the stone house that had to be renovated, we have begun the process of reconstruction. The stone house is called "Folirantica" because it is located in Foli near the village of Savičenta. The villa has been remodeled according to the wishes of our clients according to the proposals of our architect team Igor Kuzmanović and Mai Uremović. Our real estate agency Maris has concerned all necessary documents from the use permits to all permits for infrastructure (connections) and supervised the hole process.
