In the heart of green Istria, on top of one of its many hills, lies the small town of Motovun, a symbol of the region's inner land and one of the most interesting and well-preserved Istrian medieval municipality. Below the hills of Motovun flows Mirna, the longest Istrian river.
Villa Motovun is located on a hill on the southern side of the Mirna valley, enjoying a wonderful view of the medieval town and the surrounding green woods.

The ground floor features three bedrooms, each with a belonging bathroom. The main living areas are located on the first floor, where an ensuite master bedroom, the living room, and the kitchen, as well as two covered terraces are to be found. The southern covered terrace communicates with the sauna and fitness space and features a stunning infinity pool and sunbathing area.

The living area enjoys a wonderful panorama over the Mirna river valley, and faces the pool area with a unique outlook on Motovun. The suitable shape of the villa allows for complete privacy in the pool area while ensuring daylong sunshine. The infinity pool is designed with perimeter-overflow on two of its edges. The blue shades of the sky and the green ones of the surrounding hills will be reflected through the glass frames of the pool.
